Ancient Indigenous Breeds

SOAY RAMS

SOAY RAMS came to Scotland across a land bridge when Britain was connected to the mainland of Europe. 85% of the rams are dark, and about 15% are blonde.

HEBRIDEAN RAMS

This primitive breed can either be 4-horned or 2-horned.

RARE RACKA RAMS

Nearly extinct a few short decades ago. These pictures are a few specimens of many from our own herd of rackas.

Jacob's Rams

From the book of Genesis, when Jacob left his family to build his own household, he struck a deal to keep all the spotted and speckled dark colored sheep. By doing so, Jacob grew exceedingly prosperous through God's divine intervention. This animal is one of the few that never changed since the beginning of time.

Manx Rams

The Manx is a primitive breed native to the Isle of Man. Archaeological evidence suggests the breed was there when the Vikings arrived.

PRIMITIVE GOATS

These ancient goats were brought to the West Coast Islands of Scotland in 3,000 BC by the Vikings as emergency edible protein in the event of a shipwreck. We have captured a limited number of remaining specimens for any of our hunters who are interested.
